FEDERAL ELECTION CRIMES

The FBI's Role in Protecting
Your Vote

FEDERAL ELECTION OVERVIEW

In the United States, the election process is the method by which we hold our government accountable and facilitate the peaceful and orderly transfer of power among elected officials. The process works when votes are not diluted by fraudulent ballots and campaign activities are bound by the law. When the legitimacy of elections are corrupted, our democracy is threatened.

While individual states have primary responsibility for conducting fair and free elections, the FBI plays an important role in protecting federal interests and our constitutional rights. Federal jurisdiction in election-related crimes exists when:

- The ballot includes a Federal candidate;
- An election official abuses their office;
- The conduct involves false voter registration; or
- The activity violates Federal campaign laws.

Federal election crimes investigated by the FBI fall into four broad categories:

- Voter/ballot fraud
- Civil rights violations
- Campaign finance offenses
- Election Worker Threats

REMEMBER:

Armed FBI agents may not respond to any place where an election is actively being held, nor may FBI agents participate in counting, recounting, or tabulating ballots prior to the certification of an election and the end of any election contest. However, FBI agents may be armed at a polling place for the purpose of casting their own vote. 18 U.S.C. § 592

FEDERAL ELECTION OFFENSES

VOTER/BALLOT FRAUD

- A voter intentionally gives false information when registering to vote (e.g., false citizenship claims) or an ineligible person votes in a Federal election (e.g., non-citizens and some felons).
- Vote buying schemes where the voter receives money or something of value (e.g., money, cigarettes, or drugs) in exchange for voting for a specific candidate or party in a Federal election.
- An individual votes more than once in a Federal election (e.g., schemes to obtain absentee ballots and/or vote in the name of others).
- An election official corrupts his or her office to benefit a candidate or party (e.g., stuffs a ballot box with illegal ballots or changes a ballot tally).

CIVIL RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

- A voter is threatened with physical or economic harm unless the voter declines to vote or casts a ballot a particular way.
- Efforts to prevent qualified voters from effectively voting by deceiving them as to the time, place, or manner of an election (voter suppression).

CAMPAIGN FINANCE OFFENSES

Excessive Contributions: Donations made to candidates beyond the federal maximum limit permitted for individuals, political parties, political action committees (PACs), and tax-exempt organizations. A list of campaign donation limits can be found at www.fec.gov.

Conduit Contributions (Straw Donor Schemes): A person makes a contribution to a federal candidate in the name of another person, or a person allows their name to be used to make such a contribution.

Domestic Prohibited Sources: A corporation, labor organization, bank, or government contractor contributes to a federal candidate's campaign.

Foreign Prohibited Sources: A foreign individual or entity (who is not a lawful permanent resident) contributes to any federal, state, or local candidate's campaign or makes independent expenditures to influence an election.

Super PACs: Federal donation limits do not apply to Super PACs. However, it is unlawful for these entities to coordinate their activity with a candidate's campaign.

Abuse of Campaign Funds: Candidates misuse campaign contributions for personal or unauthorized use.

WHAT IS NOT A FEDERAL ELECTION CRIME:

Some activities may be subject to state or local laws, or but are not considered federal crimes:

- Giving voters a ride to the polls or time off to vote.
- Offering voters a stamp to mail an absentee ballot.
- Making false claims about oneself.
- Asking an opponent to withdraw from a race.
- Honest mistakes by polling place workers.
- Campaigning too close to polling places.
- Delays reporting election results.
